

15 Engaging Questions to Ask Your Kids AFTER SCHOOL

1. Who did you spend the most time with at school today, and how did you two become good friends?
2. What subject do you feel you are doing the best in, and which subject are you struggling in the most?
3. Are the other kids in your class showing respect for the teacher and their rules? What about you? How would your teacher respond to this question?
4. How do you decide who you'll sit with during lunch? Who did you sit with at lunch today? Have you ever tried looking for someone else who might need a friend at lunchtime?
5. What were one or two favorite parts of your day today? Tell me specifically what you liked about them.
6. Is there anyone in your class that's being treated unfairly? Have you been treating anyone unfairly?
7. Do you have any homework? If so, how much and in what subjects? Is it anything I can help you with?

8. What's one way that you helped someone out, or showed kindness or respect for someone else in your school today?

9. Can you think of anything you did today that would make your teacher proud to have you in their class, or that would have made us proud of you?

10. If I were to ask your classmates to give me a description of you and how you treat others in the class, how do you think they would describe you?

11. What is one thing your teacher said today that you remember most?

12. Was there anything that happened today that made you laugh?

13. What are some of the names of new kids you've met this year? What can you tell me about them and their families?

14. Can you tell me something out of the ordinary that happened to you today, and I'll tell you something out of the ordinary that happened to me?

15. If you could change one thing about your class, what would it be?

Adapted from the Godly Parent blog by Andrew Linder

Subscribe today at godlyparent.com

This is a Faith@Home Resource of Cherry Street Baptist Church

